Dear Guests,

We are pleased to welcome You to Our Restaurant.
Below we present Our culinary encyclopedia with issues that accompany Us every day in Our kitchen.

Vegetarian dishes

Spicy dishes

- Sous - vide - is a technique of cooking meat, fish and other food products, previously sealed tightly (vacuum) in a plastic bag in a water or steam bath (in the oven) at a relatively low temperature, which never exceeds 100°C (or even 90°C). The most important advantage of this method is the retention of the most valuable vitamins and food ingredients in the finished products.
- Kimchi - a symbol of Korean cuisine, famous for its diversity and versatile use of vegetables. It is a spicy fermented dish and is most often prepared with Chinese cabbage. Traditionally, kimchi is seasoned with garlic, ginger and spring onion and soy and fish sauce.
- Shimeji mushrooms - the homeland of shimeji mushrooms is Japan, but they are popular throughout East Asia. Asian people describe their taste as umami. They are slightly spicy with a noticeable sweetness and nutty note.
- Pak Choi - Chinese cabbage, comes from East Asia and is grown in China, North America and Europe.
